

B2B Payments and Supplier Trade Fee arrangement

American Express Supplier arrangements that utilise the Supplier Trade Fee (STF) may be available for eligible business-to-business (B2B) transactions, including invoicing and business accounts payments.

Supplier Trade Fee application will vary by supplier and by customer, with fees being shared, absorbed or applied depending on the commercial arrangement.

These American Express Supplier Payment Agreements are intended to support commercial objectives such as working capital management and cash flow optimisation for both buyers and suppliers.