Authority to American Express under the Privacy Act:

Use and Disclosure

To assess this application, and if it is approved, to establish and manage the Additional Card(s) and your Account, American Express needs to collect, use and disclose personal information in accordance with the American Express Card Member Privacy Statement.

If you do not provide the information requested or give your agreement, American Express may decline your application.

The American Express Card Member Privacy Statement sets out our policies on the management of credit information and personal information. You, and any Additional Card Member, can view a copy of the Policy Statement at americanexpress.com.au/CMprivacy

Direct Marketing

You and any Additional Card Members invite American Express, our agents and our preferred alliance organisations (including insurance companies) to use your personal information to inform you of and offer products or services from American Express or a related company, or any third party providing products marketed jointly with American Express. American Express may contact you by phone, mail or electronically to do this. If you wish to withdraw this invitation and remove your name from the American Express marketing list, call us on 1300 132 639. This invitation will remain in place until you withdraw it or until twelve months after you cease being an American Express Card Member.

Transfer of your personal information and credit information overseas

American Express is a global organisation and we may use international entities to help our business functions. As a result American Express may need to share your information, including any Additional Card Members information, outside of Australia. It is impracticable to list out each and every country that American Express may share personal information to, but such countries include the United States of America, Malaysia, India and the United Kingdom. American Express will ensure that any transfer of personal information and credit information is subject to appropriate conditions of confidentiality to ensure the information is handled consistently with the Australian Privacy Principles.

Information about other individuals

Where you have provided American Express with personal information about another individual in relation to this application, you can confirm that the individual has seen, understood or agreed to:

- American Express receiving their personal information and for the purposes for which their personal information is being collected, used and disclosed in accordance with this declaration and the American Express Card Member Privacy Statement;
- Their ability to access that information in accordance with the Privacy Act (and advise American Express if they think the information is inaccurate, incomplete or out-of-date); and
- The contact details of the American Express Privacy Officer.
