The conversion will take place on the date the charge is processed by overseas American Express, which may not be the same date on which you made your charge as it depends on when the charge was submitted to American Express. If the charge is not in US Dollars, the conversion will be made through US Dollars, by converting the charge amount into US Dollars and then by converting the US Dollars amount into Thai Baht. If the charge is in US Dollars, it will be converted directly into Thai Baht. If you make a cash withdrawal in a currency other than US Dollars, that cash withdrawal will be converted into US Dollars and then converted US Dollars into Thai Baht. The conversion will take place on the date the cash withdrawal is processed by overseas American Express, which may not be the same date on which you made your cash withdrawal as it depends on when the cash withdrawal was submitted to American Express.

You understand and agree that the overseas American Express treasury system will use a conversion rate based on interbank rates that it selects from customary industry sources on the business day prior to the processing date, increased by a Currency Conversion Risk Factor of 2.5% assessment on such charges. If charges are converted by the third parties prior to being submitted to American Express, any conversions made by those third parties will be at rates selected by them.
