

A simple, effective way to reach international customers.

A short story about Multi-Currency Processing from American Express.

Lynn, a U.K. merchant, wants to expand her business internationally. She's looking for a payment solution to help her reach customers all around the world.

But how does she do it?

She doesn't have the resources to establish local presence in international markets. Plus she doesn't have the time to deal with the extra work this entails.

With Multi-Currency Processing, however, Lynn can use her current website to market in multiple currencies. And she's able to process those foreign sales in one simple place. So selling around the world isn't extra work.

Selling in international currencies makes it easier for international customers to shop, and this can help Lynn's business continue growing.

Showing only GBP may lead to confusion and increased checkout friction for international customers.

Using Multi-Currency Processing, customers can choose to pay in their local currency from more than 100 options—including USD, CAD, EUR, AUD and SGD.

Shoppers use their American Express® Card to buy in their local currency, and Lynn gets paid in British Pounds.

By pricing in local currency, Lynn's site feels more localised, helping increase engagement and sales with international customers.

Lynn reaches Cardmembers outside her current customer base, and customers all over the world get to shop for Lynn's shoes in their local currency.

To learn more about Multi-Currency Processing, speak to your American Express representative or visit the Multi-Currency Processing site.